Mahnoor Saparas

'Going Places' (2025), Acrylic on canvas Mahnoor Saparas is a self-taught artist who rediscovered her passion for painting in 2019 as a means of de-stressing from everyday life and reconnecting with her creative side. She is known for her vibrant building landscape paintings that capture the essence of a place and celebrate nature's beauty.

The artist who rediscovered her passion 8-figures and reconnecting with her creative side. She is known for her vibrant building adding the second celebrate and celebrate and celebrate and celebrate second celebrate and celebrate a

'Going Places' highlights the charms of Solihull, showcasing its historic architecture and lush green spaces that encourage relaxation and outdoor activities.

The artwork features an exaggerated, Surrealist sky shaped like the 8-figure cycle track at Tudor Grange Park, with a skyline of Tudor-style buildings, including Solihull Manor House and St. Alphege Church.

Adding adventure to the scene, a vintage Land Rover navigates whimsical off-road paths inspired by the Land Rover Experience. In contrast, a serene lake, bordered by wildflowers and a diving kingfisher, adds a sense of tranquillity.

Instagram: @artbynoori

