Amber Gollay & Annie Brighton

'The Exquisite Corpse'-inspired interactive show

Amber Gollay is a professional actor and theatre maker, with a BA in Drama & Theatre Arts from the University of Birmingham and an MA in Acting from the Royal Birmingham Conservatoire. She loves making her own work and performing in children's theatre and pantomime. She specialises in comedy performance, with a particular interest in physical comedy.

Annie Brighton has worked professionally in puppetry for over five years and has trained with organisations including Gyre and Gimble and the Brighton School of Puppetry. A lot of Annie's puppetry building is self taught and they have performed in walkabout/outdoor performances, short films and drag shows.

The duo's performance is about bringing the Surrealist technique of the 'Exquisite Corpse' to life; this interactive show invites audience members to create their own puppet design and watch as it is brought to life before their eyes with a story all about celebrating our unique differences.
